

Tamisala Hart McCrorey

Tamisala Hart McCrorey, a serial entrepreneur, wife, and mother, has been a corporate project manager with a major financial institution for the last 15 years.

Tamisala is a native of Rock Hill, SC where she still resides with her husband William, who is a United States Navy veteran. She has one son, who is currently in the US States Navy and is stationed in Honolulu, Hawaii. Tamisala has one daughter who is a senior at Clemson University.

With the help of her family, Tamisala owns and manages a few small businesses here in Rock Hill which include Fresh Vibes Juice Bar & More, Favored Events, Catering & Decor Rentals. She also oversees “Teens In Transition,” a non-profit group that assists teenagers with life skills, credit understanding and the overall transitioning from middle school to high school on to college.

Tamisala has earned her degree in Early Childhood Education, Business and has recently obtained a degree in Human Development & Professional Studies from Winthrop University. Tamisala has her Lean Six Sigma, Agile, Project Management & Scrum Master certifications and has a passion for helping other entrepreneurs thrive.